Gratitude
Dankbarkeit

Why does one need to chant the Name of God? Why should one pray to God? Isn't it our duty to express gratitude to God, who has created this vast world and all the living beings in it and provided them with food to eat, air to breathe, and water to drink? Not only that, He has provided everything for all living beings to carry on their life sojourn on earth.

Think of God with gratitude for the human life gifted to you, and the various material, moral, and intellectual talents you have been given. Do this before you commence any task or work. You will certainly experience great benefit, and you will have peace, joy, and success in your endeavours through divine grace.

If your handkerchief falls down and someone picks it up and gives it to you, you thank them. Even for a small help like this, you say thanks. Then isn't it your duty to express gratitude to God, who gave you so much?

Expression of gratitude is itself prayer. What does prayer do? It awakens the inner Divinity of a person, which is immeasurable, invisible, and transcendental.
